HOUSING SUBSIDIZED BY THE
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT
IN THE SAN FRANCISCO BAY AREA

Introduction

In the course of its housing planning program, ABAG has been especially concerned with the housing of lower-income households in the San Francisco Bay Area. In this connection the Association has:

- made estimates of housing needs in the region,
- approved a Regional Housing Subsidy Distribution System which was used by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in allocating housing assistance funds throughout the region in December, 1976, and
- inaugurated a system for monitoring the flow of HUD subsidies into the region.

This Directory -- a product of the latter activity -- was compiled primarily from information provided by HUD through its Region IX and San Francisco Area Offices. Community development and housing officers in a number of cities -- particularly Richmond, Oakland, San Francisco and San Jose -- also helped in collecting and confirming the information.

The Directory lists all residential developments in the region which, by means of HUD assistance, offer housing within the means of lower-income households. No effort was made to determine the availability of vacancies or the length of waiting lists. The information contained reflects the situation in September, 1977. The inventory of housing fluctuates, with newly-completed developments being added and other developments being withdrawn from the subsidized market. ABAG hopes this directory will be useful enough to warrant periodic up-dating. The housing listed here was produced under a variety of financing programs, each with its own regulations. Moreover, income limits vary from one locality to another. Therefore, prospective tenants are advised to consult the management of the housing in which they are interested, to determine their eligibility for admission.

Nearly all of the housing consists of rental apartments; in San Francisco, Martinez and San Jose there are a few cooperatives where lower-income households jointly own the developments.

In addition to the list of subsidized private housing, this directory includes the addresses of local housing authorities, which either manage publicly-owned low-rent housing units or issue Certificates of Family Participation in the Section 8 Existing Housing Program, under which eligible lower-income households receive rent supplements to enable them to afford modest housing which they locate for themselves. County housing authorities serve cities which do not have their own local housing agencies.

The directory contains a separate section for each county. Cities are alphabetically arranged within each county, with unincorporated area and county housing authorities following.

Housing specifically for the elderly is indicated by an asterisk (*); developments which contain a combination of elderly and family units are shown with two asterisks (). However, elderly households are not excluded from applying for other units.

Finally, it should be noted that this Directory lists only housing which is now available. As a result of subsidies authorized by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, a number of additional projects are in process of development. When they are completed, they will be added to later editions of this Directory.
